soup bunch 20 or 30 minutes, until the flesh separates easily from the bone. Remove the skin and bone without dis-turbing the shape. Marinate, while hot, with a French dressing made of four tablespoonfuls of oil, two of vinegar, onefourth a teaspoonful each of salt and pepper. When cold, place the fish on a bed of heart leaves of crisp lettnee. Fill the cavity from which the bone was taken with the heart of the lettuce. Cut crosswise a encumber in sections threefourths an inch thick. Cut each section round and round in one long, thin paring. Arrange these in curls or in spiral cups and fill with mayonnaise or boiled dressing.

For the dressing mix together one teaspoonful of mustard, half a teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth a teaspoonful of pepper and the yolks of four eggs. Add ar tablespoonfuls each of melted butter and vinegar or lemon juice and cook over hot water until thick and smooth. When cool and ready to serve, add half a cup of thick cream, beaten stiff. Use less cream, if the dressing is to be put on with the bag and tubes. Spanish salad, which perhaps we may eat this time without endangering our patriotism, may be subjected to some modifications and still keep its name. Common lettuce may be substituted for the endive called for in the receipt: In the center of a dish arrange endive in a mold. Peel tomatoes, divide into sec-tions and arrange these around the endive. Shell cold, well cooked eggs, cut in halves and remove the yolks. Pound the yolks to a paste with an equal amount of the flesh of lobster, shrimp, anchovies or salmon. With this paste well seasoned fill the cups fashioned from the whites of the eggs and arrange them around the tomatoes. Strew some chopped shallot and sweet pepper over the endive. Mix equal portions of oil and vinegar, season with salt and pepper and pour over the salad. Serve at

To make bacon salad, cut six slices of tender bacon into small squares and fry until they are delicately browned. Remove the bits to soft paper to drain. Heat six tablespoonfuls of bacon fat and two tablespoonfuls of vinegar in a small saucepan. Beat together the yolks of eggs, one-fourth a teaspoonful three each of pepper and mustard, and with the last named ingredients cook over hot water until the mixture thickens slightly. When cold, cut the leaves of a head of lettuce across the grain into ribbons. Toss the lettuce and squares of bacon together and mix with the dressing. These recipes and illustrations are reproduced from the Boston Cooking School Magazine,

Novelties In Jewelry, Silverware, Etc. Among the new things of the shops The Jewelers' Circular mentions the following:

The old time hoop and drop earrings may soon be familiar objects. The latter are already in evidence in gold and silver filigree and several small stones united by fine gold chain.

An unusually elegant sold silver tea set, including the ordinary pieces and tray, is in a most graceful colonial pattern, the surface plain, with the exception of a small wreathed design on each panel.

One of the silver gilt buckles for the new wrinkled silk belts is shaped like the wheel of a ship. Inside of the rim is enameled a yacht in full sail.

Battleships, surmounted by the flag, eagle or shield, are a favorite painted decoration on square buckles of silver or silver gilt.

As a variation of the omnipresent flag the American eagle in nature's own coloring is inclosed in a crystal as Beaded bags, purses and cardcases are now provided in the gayest hues, with sumptuous gold mountings. A very attractive application of silver openwork is over the colored silk shades of candelabra. Russian enamel, principally in blue and red effects, appears very popular in bric-a-brac.
